BR'ER TURKEY, here's looking at you!

THE Bulgarian situation is becoming a journalistic chestnut.

HOITT'S plurality is only sweet sixteen, but it is large enough for its age.

A DECEMBER blunder, on the heels of November lessons, would be worse than a crime.

PRINTERS, too, like to Thanksgive, and there will be no issue of this paper to-morrow.

THE Southern Pacific is expecting to be struck in Texas. The brakemen and engineers will be the pugilists.

THE Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé company has scored another victory. It is the Sullivan of the railroad ring.

IF ANY people alive have cause for real, solid, 20-carat thankfulness today, the citizens of Los Angeles are of them.

CLEVELAND'S idea of civil service reform is like the wag's notion of a joke—something that he plays on the other fellow.

THE traditional person who "couldn't tell chicken from turkey," will feel today as though he didn't know enough to tumble out of the back end of a wagon.

THE trifling encroachments of the Continental Powers fade into insignificance beside the fashion in which America will "down" Turkey to-day.

THE Czar is said to be in a frightfully bad temper. It is just possible that he, too, started a paper "to down" some journalistic enemy. They do get awfully worried at that game.

WHILE seeking for something wherewith to stimulate her flagging industries, Mexico should not forget her own pulque. That will stimulate anything, from a corpse to a sawbuck.

IT is a cold day for the Dutch in Sumatra. As Allen G. Thurman remarked in his junior days: "Twenty-two below zero, and the d—d Dutch still sleighing." In this case, however, they are still being slain.

FATHER O'KEEFE, be jabbers, has issued a little book giving the history of the famous old Santa Barbara Mission. Father O'Keefe ably edits the subterranean department of the mission, and his book will doubtless be found spirited and valuable.

THE prayerful consideration of any other village of 45,000 in the United States which thinks it is "some punkins" on real estate is called to the flowery figures which bloom on the Los Angeles County Recorder's office. The real estate transfers for the week ending November 13 amounted to $1,832,765. Those for the week ending last Saturday night reached $984,915. Total for one fortnight, $2,817,680—which it is safe to allege will beat San Francisco's record for the month.

A LION AND A BEAR.

Encounter with a Grizzly and Killing of a Cougar.

[Santa Barbara Independent, Nov. 23.]

Matt. Morris brought in town this morning a California lion that measured almost 9 feet from the tip of its tail to the end of its nose. The animal was killed last Saturday in the Santa Ynez mountains, at the foot of Montecito Pass, and is the largest of its kind that has been captured for many years. This lion has devoured many head of stock for Mr. Morris in the past and has proved a terror to the neighborhood in which he used to roam. Mountaineers, for weeks, have been endeavoring to get within shot of him, but their efforts were worthless up to Saturday, when the cougar was suddenly jumped by Morris's dogs treeing him, and it was when he was in the act of coming down that he was shot.

AN ENCOUNTER WITH A BEAR.

[Santa Maria Times.]

On the 11th inst. A. M. Powell had a disastrous encounter with a grizzly bear at his ranch, 70 miles southeast of this place, on the headwaters of the Santa Maria river. He left this place a few days after the election to finish covering his cabin, and having completed his job, concluded to have a deer hunt. Following up a creek he came upon a fresh bear track, which he traced for some distance, and when rounding the end of a log that lay up stream, forming a V with the bank, he came face to face with his bearship standing in the V. He was too close to lower his gun, and as he was in the act of backing off and lowering the gun the bear struck him on the top of the head, knocking him senseless. When he came to he found himself covered with blood and his gun 15 feet distant. In a few moments more he was on his feet, and securing the gun he found it uninjured and followed the retreating bear to where it entered the brush. Mr. Powell had a severe scalp wound and is bruised considerably on the face. The force of the blow cut through his hat from the crown to the brim, and it is evident that he had a very rough encounter and also a very narrow escape. The chances are that if he had shot the bear at such close quarters he would never have got home to tell the story. As it is, he is very reticent about the affair.

THE RAILWAYS.

The Atchison Company Gains an Important Victory.

Its Right to Extend its Road to Chicago Sustained,

Also its Power to Guarantee Bonds of its Connecting Lines.

Trouble on the Southern Pacific's Atlantic System—Brakemen and Engineers Threaten to Strike Unless the Company Submits to Their Demands.

By Telegraph to The Times.

TOPEKA (Kas.), Nov. 24.—[By the Western Associated Press.] In the United States Circuit Court yesterday, Judge Brewer presiding, the application of C. H. Venner for a restraining order to prevent the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad Company from extending its line to Chicago, and also to enjoin it from guaranteeing the bonds of the Atlantic and Pacific Company, was argued. The court refused to grant the restraining order as to the Chicago line and informed counsel that no further argument need be made on the subject. This morning the court also decided the Atlantic and Pacific case in favor of the company, refusing to grant the restraining order. The grounds of the decision were that Venner had failed to show any emergency requiring interference of the court in his behalf, and that the principle had been established by a former decision of the Supreme Court of Kansas and in the United States Court, that the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Company had a legal right to purchase the stock and guarantee the bonds of connecting lines.

THREATENED STRIKES.

Brakemen and Engineers at Loggerheads with the Southern Pacific.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 24.—[By the Western Associated Press.] A special from Houston, Tex., says: For several days past trouble has existed between trainmen on the Southern Pacific Company's Atlantic system and their officials. Last Saturday night a committee of brakemen visited New Orleans to present their grievances and arbitrate with the managers of the company regarding wages. The railroad authorities, in order to definitely settle the big strike last winter, entered into an agreement with the brakemen which the latter claim is not now being enforced, and assert that unless the matter is soon rectified they will strike again.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has also appointed a committee to visit the Crescent City and arbitrate the difficulties existing between them and the company. It is claimed that two engineers were unjustly discharged by the master mechanic. The officials of the company state that the action of the master mechanic must be sustained. The engineers state that they are in the right, and that unless the difficulty is amicably settled a strike will be the result.

The Washington Police Scandal.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The District Commissioners this afternoon announced their decision in the matter of the Washington police investigation. Maj. Walker, Chief of Police, is allowed to resign; Lieut. Arnold is dismissed; Lieut. Kelly is reprimanded and suspended for three months without pay; Sergeant Diggins is reprimanded and reduced to the ranks for three months, and Private Edelin is dismissed.

Death of a Brave Woman.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 24.—Mrs. Barbara Hemphill, who had both legs amputated yesterday between the knees and the hips, she having been run over by the cars in endeavoring to save her grandchild, died to-day.

An Aged Murderer.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 24.—A man named Wheeler, 90 years old, bound over to the Common Pleas Court yesterday, without bail, for murdering his wife, 87 years old, was released to-day on $30,000 bail by Judge McKinley.

Boodler McQuade's Case.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—In the case of "Boodle" Alderman McQuade the jury disagreed and has been discharged. A new trial will begin next Monday.

A Rich Man Gone.

DETROIT (Mich.), Nov. 24.—Francis Palms, one of the oldest and wealthiest citizens of this city, died this morning. He leaves an estate worth from $15,000,000 to $18,000,000.

Maps for Distribution.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The Commissioner of the General Land Office has sent to the officers of the Senate and House of Representatives copies of the map of the United States recently prepared under direction of the General Land Office. Each Senato will receive for distribution about thirty copies, and each Representative about ten copies.

A Steamer Wrecked.

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—A dispatch from Barrington, N. S., says that the British steamer Lulina, Capt. Potter, from Antwerp November 4th for Boston, is ashore at Cape Sable. No particulars received.

HALIFAX, Nov. 24.—The steamer Lulina will probably be a total wreck. The crew were saved.

The Passenger Agents.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—The Pacific Coast and Eastern passenger agents, after spending the day in futile wrangling over the settlement of the commission business, appointed a committee of five this evening to arrange an agreement for the maintenance of rates.

Damages for Breach of Promise.

PORTLAND (Or.), Nov. 24.—To-night the jury in the case of Mrs. Henrietta M. Kelly against William T. Highfield, a suit for breach of promise, returned a verdict awarding the plaintiff $14,000. She sued for $20,000.

Boodler McQuade in the Tombs.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The application of McQuade for a release on bail was denied, and he was committed to the Tombs pending his trial.

Boston's Big Defalcation.

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—It is stated that the experts' examination of Reed's accounts has already brought to light proof of more extensive crookedness than was at first believed. The fact that he had been using the surplus of the road for private speculation seems to have been established, and it has been discovered that he had given notes upon the company for a considerable sum. One for $2500 has turned up, and the company has advertised on all notes against them. At the present time the officers of the road are all at sea as regards the full extent of Reed's defalcations, the amount now being placed at from $250,000 to $300,000.

Seven Indians Drowned.

BISMARCK (Dak.), Nov. 24.—It is reported here that seven Indians, Big Thunder, the Crow chief, among the number, were drowned while attempting to cross the Missouri river at a point about ten miles north of here. Big Thunder was one of the most famous chiefs of the Crow nation, and his son, White Eagle, is said to have been with the party. When the accident occurred the Indians were crossing to join a band of their tribe which started out to wreak vengeance on the Sioux who killed a number of Crows several days ago. There are reports that several miners at Sims were frozen during the blizzard.

Ex-President Arthur's Will.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Counsel for the executors of the will of the late Chester A. Arthur to-day procured an order from Judge Bookstaver, of the Court of Common Pleas, for the issuance of citations for the probate of the will, made returnable one week from Saturday. The ex-President's will was executed March 8, 1886. It states that the heirs and next of kin are Chester Allan Arthur and Ellen Herndon Arthur. Mrs. McElroy is said to have been appointed guardian of his daughter. The will has not been filed.

Minister Manning's Indiscretions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—At the State Department nothing is known beyond what has appeared in the newspapers with regard to reports from the City of Mexico charging Minister Manning with grave indiscretions. Not much importance is attached to the reports, which are believed to be highly exaggerated. The department authorizes a denial of the statement that Minister Manning has sent a cable dispatch in reference to the alleged scandal.

Failure of a Boston Firm.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Near the close of business at the Stock Exchange to-day, D. A. Ball, a New York member of the Boston firm of F. R. Morse & Co., sent in a notice announcing the failure of his firm. Ball could not be found at his office, but his representative said that the failure was caused by the discovery of irregularities by the senior member of the firm in Boston.

RAILROAD NEWS.

A San Diego Estimate of the Situation.

The San Diego Union of the 20th says:

"The railroad news in our local columns this morning is decidedly reassuring. We refer especially to the announcement of the incorporation of the San Bernardino and Los Angeles Railway Company and the San Bernardino and San Diego Railway Company. These incorporations disclose the real meaning of the more or less mysterious movements of railway people which during the past three months have given rise to much speculation. The Union has information from an authentic source which enables it to assure its readers that the incorporation of these companies means the immediate construction of the following lines:

"1. An entirely new line between San Diego and Los Angeles by way of Anaheim and San Juan Capistrano to Oceanside, and from Oceanside to San Diego by a route not yet decided upon, but which will deflect inland and tap valuable territory at present without railroad facilities. This line will be 140 miles in length.

"2. An entirely new line from San Bernardino to Los Angeles, parallel to the Southern Pacific line between Colton and Los Angeles. This line will be 60 miles in length.

"3. The completion of the Riverside, Santa Ana and Los Angeles line to a junction with the Los Angeles and San Diego line at Anaheim. This line is already built through Riverside to and beyond Arlington, and is being pushed to the point of junction with all possible haste. As soon as 1000 men are at work upon it in and about the Santa Ana cañon.

"These are all Santa Fé enterprises. They will be completed as soon as it is possible for the work to be done. A large force of men are already at work on the Los Angeles and San Diego line in the vicinity of San Juan Capistrano. As will be seen from the article quoted from the LOS ANGELES TIMES, track-laying has already been taken for securing important terminal facilities at Los Angeles.

"Of the foregoing enterprises the Los Angeles and San Diego line is of the greatest importance. It is the longest and will traverse important parts of San Diego county at present without railroad facilities. It will be a direct line between Los Angeles and the port of San Diego. It will have no grade of over 60 feet to the mile, and will therefore be adapted to fast and heavy freight traffic. From the moment of its completion, San Diego will become the port of Los Angeles. This result will be inevitable. The railroad people not only expect it but they intend it, and have intended it from the time they secured terminal facilities upon San Diego bay. The far reaching sagacity of the minds that control the great Santa Fé corporation is well evidenced by these latest movements. Already in possession of a trunk line and terminal harbor facilities, they have projected and set about building a system of feeders that traverse the most productive portions of Southern California.

"Activity in railroad building will in the next few months greatly stimulate existing prosperity. In the resulting benefits San Diego will share liberally. The San Diego Central projected to El Cajon, and the Murrieta and San Jacinto line are also reasonably certain to be begun within the next few months, and the prospects from every standpoint are exceedingly bright.

One Good Thing from Nazareth.

[Evening Express.]

The following bit of attempted sarcasm and alleged good advice is printed in this morning's Tribune, a newspaper that started out as a metropolitan journal, but fell down after the first issue. It was no doubt written by a graduate from a country newspaper office, and if printed in a small town that depends on "puffs and stuff" to keep it in sight, might be good advice, but it sounds extremely mushy coming from a paper printed in a city:

[Here follows the Tribune article, a sloppy stolen paragraph.]

The object of the city daily is to print news and not dole out soft soap by the barrel and moonshine by the acre.

Plans to Increase Prosperity in the Sister Republic.

The Old World Still Disturbed by the Balkan Broils.

Turkey Continues Her Warlike Preparations—The Dutch Defeated in Achees, and Harassed by the Hostile Natives—Other News from Distant Lands.

By Telegraph to The Times.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 24.—[By the Western Associated Press.] An important bill has been framed and sent to Congress by the special commission appointed by the Department of Public Works to consider the best remedy for overcoming the evils resulting from the depreciation of silver. The commissioners take the ground that the production of silver must be cheapened so as to diminish the loss it incurs in exchanging it for foreign goods. The commissioners favor giving a new impetus to agriculture by lowering the duties on farming implements and think that premiums should be paid on certain articles of export. The bill exempts from all taxation, federal, municipal or local, all coal, iron and quicksilver mines for the term of 50 years. It also limits taxation of every kind on other minerals to not exceed 2 per cent. of the value of the gross product. According to the terms of the bill, no interior duties can be placed by States on mining productions, and reduction works are to be assessed but for a single tax not to exceed 50 per thousand on the value of the property and machinery. The President is empowered to grant special mining privileges, the capital so invested to be exempt from every tax but the stamp tax. The goods to be exempt from all duties embrace a score of articles imported from the United States and England, and the taxes on certain articles used in mining and agriculture are largely reduced. Premiums are to be awarded on the value of exports of silk, tobacco, fibers, medicinal plants, onyx, marble, rubber, rosin, gums, etc. The passage of this bill will, it is thought, give a powerful impetus to the already increasing agriculture of the country, and stimulate the investment of foreign capital in mining operations.

FOREIGN NOTES.

The Bulgarian Situation—The Dutch Defeated in Acheen.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 24.—[By Cable.] Gen. Kaulbars will instruct Nelidoff, the Russian ambassador, in all the details of the Bulgarian situation, and will guide him in regard to the election of a new Prince of Bulgaria. Nelidoff has not yet received authority from his government to raise the question of the eventual Russian occupation of Bulgaria. The Turkish government continues to send war vessels to Adrianople and to strengthen the fortifications of the Dardanelles.

A PROMPT ELECTION NECESSARY.

ROME, Nov. 24.—The green book on Bulgarian affairs which has just been issued by the Italian government, covers the period from August to November 20th. Among its contents is a dispatch sent by Count Kalnoky, Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, to Count Di Robilant, which agrees with him in the conviction that if Russia maintains a negative position the restoration of a normal state of things in Bulgaria is impossible. He also says that the prompt election of a prince is an absolute necessity.

DUTCH REVERSES IN ACHEEN.

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—The Cologne Gazette has a letter from Singapore saying that the Dutch have met with severe reverses in Acheen and are now obliged to act strictly on the defensive. Their sufferings from disease are described as intense. Acheenese pirates, it is stated, have smuggled in a supply of arms and have opened a regular siege on the Dutch position. A letter to the Gazette from Fort Segil warns strangers not to be enticed by the high recruiting money offered by the Dutch, as in the event of their enlistment they will probably meet with death.

CENTRAL AMERICAN TROUBLES.

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 24.—The Department of Santa Ana in San Salvador, Central America, has been placed under martial law, the government having discovered the evidence of a conspiracy. Various arrests have been made, and arms destined for the revolutionists have been seized. The government has taken energetic means to maintain peace.

ITALY ORDERS TORPEDOES.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The Italian government has given orders to a German builder at Elbing for the construction of ten torpedo boats.

Not a Legal Holiday.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—Arbor Day has not been declared a legal holiday up to the present time.

Insulting the Presidents.

[Philadelphia Bulletin.]

Few have any adequate idea of what he has to go through. During the first year of his administration, and until recently, he was constantly subjected to the severest fire of criticism and denunciation that any President, unless perhaps Johnson, ever received. Day after day he has received calls from indignant Democrats high up in the party ranks—Senators, Representatives, Governors, "bosses," and men of national prominence who have reviled him to his face without stint. They have denounced him as a liar, a hypocrite, a traitor, a Judas, a Benedict Arnold, a coward and a fool. They have taunted him with his early insignificance. "Who are you, anyway?" they have inquired, "What were you but a miserable little sheriff, raised to a great power by lucky accident?" They have charged him with the blackest ingratitude to his party friends. Losing all command of themselves in many cases; they have sworn at him, cursed him, shaken their fists in his face, and called him by opprobrious names. He has stood all this, it is said, without flinching, without losing temper, without answering back, and without being moved thereby to change his course.

SAN FRANCSICO.

BURKE AND DEMPSEY TO TRY IT OVER AGAIN.

Arrested for Doing the Tichborne Claimant a Favor—A Would-be Suicide's Desperation—Paul Moroney Arrested.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—[By the Western Associated Press.] An effort is being made to arrange for a contest to a finish between Dempsey and Burke, the encounter to take place at a private sporting club. It is stated that a purse of $1600 has already been subscribed, $1000 of which was contributed by a millionaire admirer of glove encounters.

ONLY WANTED TO DO A FAVOR.

R. J. Whiteford, who was arrested yesterday for complicity in the fraudulent pension claim of the Tichborne claimant, Ferris alias Curtis, says that he merely signed the paper as a favor to Ferris, and that if he swore to anything he did not know it. He was glad to do him a favor, but was not aware that Ferris was getting him into trouble.

DETERMINED TO DIE.

Gus Meyers, 22 years old, after a quarrel with his brother this morning, attempted suicide by hanging, but was discovered and taken down. This afternoon he repeated the act and was found hanging apparently lifeless. His recovery is doubtful.

PAUL MORONEY ARRESTED.

On the complaint of Maurice Hoeflich, a well-known mining man, Paul Moroney was arrested yesterday on a charge of making threats against the former's life. Moroney was released on $2500 bonds. Hoeflich states that Moroney came here lately from Arizona and claimed that he owed him $1600 on a stock transaction of eight years ago. Hoeflich refused to pay, claiming that he was not Moroney's debtor. The latter then made the threat mentioned.

TIMBER LANDS.

Surveyor-General Willey Urges Their Withdrawal from Sale.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—[By the Western Associated Press.] The report of Surveyor-General Willey for the two years ending August 1st, 1886, just issued, says that it is his belief that all State lands known to be timber lands should be withheld from sale entirely, and that a concurrent resolution should be adopted at the next session of our Legislature requesting our delegates in Congress to endeavor to secure the passage of a bill withdrawing from sale all unsold United States lands returned and known to be timber lands. He made this recommendation because of the fact that the denuding of the mountain sides of their forests is reducing the amount of water in the springs and water-courses along their sides, and rendering disastrous floods possible by the too sudden precipitation of winter rains into the different water-courses.

BUYING A RAILWAY.

The Southern Pacific Purchases the South Pacific Coast Road.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—[By the Western Associated Press.] The entire capital stock of the South Pacific Coast Railroad Company, which operates a narrow gauge railroad between San Francisco and Santa Cruz, a distance of eighty miles, was today transferred to the Southern Pacific Company and the Pacific Improvement Company. The transfer placed the two latter companies in immediate possession. The amount paid cannot be learned, but is believed to be between $4,000,000 and $6,000,000. The Southern Pacific Company purchased the property which directly appertains to the railroad and its operation. The Pacific Improvement Company acquired the collateral property, comprising the real estate owned by the South Pacific Coast Railroad along its road and its water frontage in Oakland and Alameda. It is stated that no change in the management of the South Pacific Coast Railroad will be made at present.

JOINING THE KNIGHTS.

Iron Workers Becoming Members of Powderly's Organization.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 24.—[By the Western Associated Press.] The Knights of Labor have begun an important movement among the skilled iron workers by organizing an assembly of skilled workmen at the Elba Iron and Bolt Works. The assembly is composed of heaters and drillers, but it is the intention to admit puddlemen in a few days. All the men enrolled are members of the Amalgamated Association, and intend to remain so. This is the beginning of a general movement for the enrollment of skilled iron and steel workers as Knights of Labor, all still retaining their membership in the Amalgamated Association. The object is to have a dual organization, and thus to increase their power by being backed not only by the Amalgamated Association but also by the whole order of the Knights of Labor.

SIX SCALPS.

Further Account of the Indian Massacre in the Northwest.

OTTAWA (Ont.), Nov. 24. — The correspondence between the Canadian and United States authorities confirms the report of the recent Indian massacre in the Northwest. It appears that a band of Grosventre Indians passed Fort Assinaboine, on the south boundary line, and on exhibiting six scalps were detained by the American troops. Upon being pressed they gave an account of the fight in which it had taken place. They then took the militia to Sweet Grass Hills, where the scalping was done. The scene being located in Canadian territory, the American troops could not cross the line, and the Canadian mounted police were ordered to make a search for the bodies, and found them as represented by the Grosventres in Sweet Grass.

Entered for the Races.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—The Blood-Horse Association will give an extra day's racing to-morrow at Oakland Driving Park. The following entries have been made:

First race, three-quarters of a mile—Robson, 115; Narcola, 110; Laura Gardner, 112; Leap Year, 107.

Second race, five-eighths of a mile—Lost Boy, 110; Bertie R., 113; Tom Atchison, 110; Minnie R., 107.

Third race, heats, mile and sixteenth—Argo, 110; Blinnette, 110; Moonlight, 95; Leda, 90; Miss Courtney, 103.

Fourth race, seven-eighths of a mile, handicap—Neilson, 115; Guenn, 109; Dynamite, 97; Adeline, 100; Sir Thad, 107; Bertie R, 103; Grover Cleveland, 105.

Seriously Injured.

PHOENIX (Ariz.), Nov. 24.—R. F. Kirkland, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s agent at Maricopa, well known all over Arizona, was seriously injured last evening by some heavy tin falling on him from a flat car. His leg was broken in two places, the ankle being badly broken. His hip and shoulder also were dislocated. He was brought here to-day for medical treatment.

OFFENSIVE PARTISANSHIP.

Cleveland Again Explains His Views on the Subject.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—[By the Western Associated Press.] President Cleveland makes public a letter addressed to Attorney-General Garland by William A. Stone, lately suspended from office as District Attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania, in which Mr. Stone states that he had read the correspondence between Hon. M. E. Benton and the President regarding the suspension of the latter from office for making campaign speeches, and his restoration upon showing that he had not neglected the duties of his office. Mr. Stone goes on to say that if his removal was on account of similar reasons he desired to place before the President the facts of the matter. He then stated that during the entire campaign he had made but two speeches, and on neither occasion had neglected the duties of his office. The letter was submitted to President Cleveland. The President's reply to Attorney-General Garland is in substance as follows:

"The assumption that Mr. Stone's suspension rested upon analogous grounds to that of Mr. Benton, recently reinstated, is an erroneous one. Charges had been preferred against Mr. Stone a year and a half ago, but, owing to the earnest representations and explanations of his friends the course of action then contemplated in regard to him was withheld. It was to be expected that during his continuance in office, under an administration opposed to him politically, he would content himself with the unobtrusive enjoyment of his political privileges. It was to be at least expected that he would refrain from pursuing a course which would wantonly irritate friends of the administration. The retention of Mr. Stone under a new and better system of the distribution of federal partonage placed him under every obligation of honor to assist in its successful operation. There is no dispute in regard to the fact that Mr. Stone was in attendance and spoke before at least two large public meetings. He publicly approved speeches devoted to the abuse and misrepresentation of the administration, and actually addressed meetings himself in a somewhat similar strain."

The President then goes on to say: "I shall accept as true the statement of Mr. Stone that the time spent by him in thus demonstrating his willingness to hold a profitable office at the hands of an administration which he endeavors to discredit with the people, and which had justly overlooked his previous offenses, did not result in neglect of his ordinary official duty, but his conduct has brought to light such an unfriendliness toward the administration which he pretends to serve, and of which he is nominally a part, and such a consequent lack of loyal interest in its success that the safest and surest guaranty of faithful service is in my opinion entirely wanting. His course, in itself, such as should not have been entered upon while maintaining official relations to the administration, also renews and revives with unmistakable interpretation as to their character and intent, the dangerous partisanship heretofore made, and up to this time held in abeyance. Mr. Stone and others of like disposition are not to suppose that party lines are so far obliterated that the administration of the government is to be trusted in places high or low to those who aggressively and constantly endeavor unfairly to destroy the confidence of the people in the party responsible for such administration. While vicious partisan methods should not be allowed for partisan purposes to degrade or injure the public service, it is my belief that nothing tends so much to discredit our efforts, in the interest of the service, to treat fairly and generously the official incumbency of political opponents, as conduct such as is here disclosed. The people of this country certainly do not require the best results of administrative endeavor to be reached with such agencies as these. Upon full consideration of all I have before me, I am constrained to decline the application of Mr. Stone for his reinstatement. I inclose his letter with this, and desire you to acquaint him with my decision. Yours very truly,

"GROVER CLEVELAND."

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE, }

THE NEW CRUISERS.

OPENING THE BIDS FOR THEIR CONSTRUCTION.

A San Francisco Firm Among the Competitors — What Secretary Whitney Says of the Several Proposals—The Awards Deferred.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—[By the Western Associated Press.] About three dozen gentlemen assembled in the office of the Secretary of the Navy to-day to witness the opening of proposals for the construction of the three cruisers, Newark, Baltimore and Charleston, and two gunboats. The bids for the cruisers were as follows:

Cruiser No. 1, 4000 tons, complete, Harlan & Hollingsworth Company, Wilmington, Del., $1,224,900; Union Iron Works, San Francisco, $1,130,000; Cramp & Sons, of Philadelphia (under special bid providing for use of engines of his own design), $1,198,000.

Cruiser No. 2, complete according to department's designs—Cramp & Sons, $1,065,000; Union Iron Works, $1,017,500.

Cruiser No. 3, complete according to department's specifications—Cramp & Sons, $1,325,000; Union Iron Works, $1,548,000; Harlan and Hollingsworth Company (under special bid, using their own engine designs), $1,452,000.

The awards will not be made for some days. Speaking upon the bidding, Secretary Whitney said: "I am well satisfied, except with reference to cruiser No. 1. No bid has been received within the limit fixed by Congress for the outside cost of the boat."

FOREIGN BUDGET.

Exciting Scenes in the French Chamber—The Ministry Defeated.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—In the Chamber of Deputies M. Boulier stated that the Budget Committee had accepted the proposed reductions in the budget, but he strongly blamed the government for rejecting them when they were first suggested. Prime Minister De Freycinet said he did not believe that those who would vote against the credits aimed at the overthrow of the ministry, but he thought they simply desired to retrench expenses. [Applause.] The debate on the budget was then resumed. M. Sadi Carnot, Minister of Finance, refused to agree to the reduction of 600,000 francs on the credit for the finance ministry. A division was taken, and the reduction was approved by a vote of 411 against 99. The result was announced amidst the most intense excitement.

SALISBURY AND THE SOCIALISTS.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Lord Salisbury, replying to a memorial which the Socialists left at his residence on Sunday, says that the proposals contained therein, and which would involve extensive legislation, would without doubt be duly considered by Parliament if they were laid before it. "I myself, however," he adds, "am unable to adopt or support them, as I am convinced that the proposals, if effected, would cause additional distress and suffering far exceeding that which prevails at present."

ORRIN SKINNER'S SENTENCE.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The trial of Orrin Skinner, who was arrested on October 19th, on a charge of defrauding Kerries, Farquhar & Co., bankers, of £300, by means of a forged letter of credit from a Chicago bank, resulted in the prisoner's conviction and sentence to five years at penal servitude. He is a lawyer, and was a practitioner at the criminal bar in Chicago. He also achieved some notoriety in California.

CATARRH.

THE TERM CATARRH IS APplied to a peculiar disorder of the nostrils and adjacent parts, which prevails to an alarming extent and is productive of very serious consequences.

The most prominent and characteristic feature is a morbid discharge from the head, varying in its nature at different times.

In some there is an almost constant flow of clear, acrid fluid, but oftener an offensive, purulent or muco-purulent, greenish-yellow matter is secreted, which accumulates in the nostrils or drops into the throat, necessitating its frequent removal by blowing the nose or expectoration, and often by both processes. Sometimes patients feel as though their whole head was in a state of rottenness, so great is the amount of matter discharged and so fetid is its odor. The patient is greatly annoyed by the constant dropping into the throat of the morbid matter from the head, and as a recumbent position naturally favors the flow downward, his rest is frequently disturbed from this cause. Many sufferers are obliged to lie with the head very much elevated in order to sleep with some degree of comfort.

In others a tough, viscid and offensive phlegm collects behind and above the soft palate, in the passage between the throat and head, adhering to the parts with ginish tenacity. Its lodgment embarrasses respiration and creates a sensation of irritation and uneasiness in the affected locality, which gives rise to a constant and almost irresistible desire to relieve the discomfort by drawing the mucus into the throat so as to eject it by the mouth. This practice, popularly known as "hawking," is characteristic of catarrh, and proves as embarrassing to the one affected as it is disagreeable to those around him.

Again, the offensive matter hardens and deposits itself on the membrane in the shape of dry, hard concretions, which are discharged by way of the nostrils or throat in lumps or fragments of a deep green tint. In some cases these incrustations accumulate to such an extent as to form a regular plug in the nose, which obstructs breathing and produces serious discomfort. So firmly do these incrustations adhere to the point of attachment that their removal usually requires the most violent efforts; not unfrequently they have to be torn from the membrane. Occasionally a solid cast of notable size is expelled, on which there are generally traces of blood, but in some cases the cast presents a tubular appearance, being of exact shape of the nasal cavity. This condition is indicative of ulceration, which in time may destroy the bony structure of the nose and produce a subsequent flattening of that organ.

Cases are occasionally met with in which a thick, viscid, slimy secretion coats the membrane of the nasal cavities and then putrefies, giving rise to a stench which is really overpowering, and sufficiently fetid to poison the atmosphere of a whole room; and there are others in which all the secretions of the membrane are suspended, causing an unpleasant feeling of dryness, heat and feverishness in the head and nose—a condition popularly known as "Dry Catarrh."

The disease speedily extends to the air cavities of the bones of the forehead and face, giving rise to a distressing sensation of heavy weight or constant pressure in the forehead, especially in the region above and between the eyes, and to a feeling of fullness, heat, irritation, soreness or pain in the nostrils near the root of the nose, as well as in the upper part of the throat, above and behind the soft palate. Sometimes the pain is unfortunately fixed in some particular part, as in the temple, on the top of the head, at the back of the neck, or behind the eyeballs, and, occasionally, pain manifests itself in the face of so severe a character that it is frequently mistaken for neuralgia.

The breath is always tainted and at times assumes an exceeding fetid and sickening odor. In some cases it becomes so revoltingly offensive as to render the sufferer an object of disgust to himself as well as to others.

The nasal membrane is thickened and congested, causing the nose to be stopped up, sometimes on one side, sometimes on the other, and often on both, giving rise to a disagreeable, stuffy sensation in the head, and occasioning violent and prolonged paroxysms of sneezing.

The voice is weak, indistinct and husky, or of a nasal character, displaying a sort of sniffling duality. Oftentimes there is a continuous hoarseness and discordance. There is also a sense of irritation in the throat, and frequent hawking and coughing to get rid of the troubling the sound "new" more or less forcibly. In some cases patients complain of an uncomfortable feeling of fullness, or sensation in the throat, and in others of a distressing and almost constant dryness, for the temporary relief of which they have to swallow frequently. Others, again, speak of a constant bad or nauseous taste in the mouth or throat.

The stomach generally suffers more or less and becomes weak and irritable; the appetite is capricious and nearly always bad in the morning. The patient is languid, unable to perform mental or physical labor with the usual facility, is nervous, depressed in spirits, at times fearful, timid, agitated and inclined to drowsiness and sleep. The memory weakened and permanent impairment seriously threatened.

The mucous membrane soon becomes morbidly sensitive to unfavorable influences, and in spite of the utmost care becomes affected from the slightest causes, so that at last a breath of wind upon the face, or the throat becomes productive of a cold, and gives rise to serious disturbances of the respiratory organs. Thus the patient is subject to frequent and repeated colds, which aggravating the disease by giving it a new impulse and involving a larger extent of surface than its predecessor. In this manner the disease spreads from organ to organ, invading the throat, larnyx, trachea and bronchial tubes, until, ascending the latter, and further, it reaches the finer ramifications of the bronchi, when but a slight impulse is required to send it to the lungs. Catarrh may, and often does, affect other organs in the body, especially those containing a mucous membrane, such as the stomach, bowels, kidneys, etc.

By the employment of proper inhalations in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharynx and nasal passages, for air will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications reach. Those means every case can be cured.

Persons desiring treatment by their system of practice can see the doctor at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless the disease has advanced to the chest and that both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success. The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for consultation and examination, but, if impossible to do so, can write for a copy of my Medical Treatise, containing a list of questions. Address

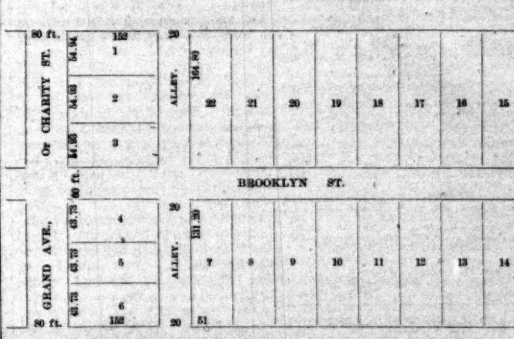
LINDLEY TRACT.



"Hello!" "Hello!" "Wall, say: that you, Lindley?" "Yes." "Wall, say; I guess I'll have to come around in a day or two and take a look at the tract I saw you advertised a day or two ago. I just think those Grand ave. tracts are the choicest property in the city. Call to-morrow, guess." "Hello! Say; don't know but I have something down on the San Pedro road, only three or four miles out, that I could show you to-day; but those lots on Grand ave., in my tract, only lasted a few hours. All sold."

You will observe by the expressions of the individual in the above conversation, that he is suffering great perturbation of mind on account of his own procrastination—the "putting off to-day of everything that can be done to-morrow." Please note how agitated he has become because he neglected to buy one of those 22 fine, large lots on Grand ave., in the LINDLEY TRACT. The moral of this lesson is, not to delay, but call at once at the real estate office of

S. K. LINDLEY, No. 75 N. Spring st., or
JAMES P. McCARTHY'S, No. 28 W. First st.,

And get your pick of these lots, which are opposite the celebrated Judson and Longstreet tracts, and on the grand 80-foot avenue, on which the new cable cars (on a cement roadbed) will be running within 100 days.

HONEST, SOUND ADVICE

TO PERSONS SEEKING HOMES IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA,

.....GO TO.....

The Great San Jacinto Valley

IN SAN DIEGO COUNTY.

AREA, 15 MILES SQUARE.

Eighty-five miles east of Lost Angeles, twelve miles south of Beaumont (formerly San Gorgonio), on the S. P. R. R., sixteen miles east of Perris, on the C. S. R. R., and daily stages to and from these points; climate genial and dry—being fifty miles from the coast. Throat, lung, asthamn and catarrh troubles are benefitted, and many chronic cases are permanently cured. Productive land ranging in price from $15 to $100 per acre, for fruit, agriculture, grazing, etc. Alfalfa cut five to seven times a year there. The orange, lemon, fig, apricot, peach, grapes and other kinds of fruit grown in Southern California are produced here.

2000 ACRES OF HEAVY TIMBER FOR FUEL,

Which is sold from $1 to $3 a cord. An abundant supply of pine, cedar, spruce, oak, etc., on the adjacent mountains. Two saw-mills (capacity 30,000 feet daily); 1 planing-mill; 1 fruit box factory; 2 brick yards (2,500,000 burnt and laid up here in two years), price per thousand last season, $6 and $7. First-class lime stone in an unlimited quantity.

EIGHTY-TWO ARTESIAN WELLS,

One of which flows 1,000,000 gallons ever twenty-four hours. River water is being conveyed in iron pipes to a 3000-acre tract of mesa land, suitable for most all semi-tropical fruits.

TWO HOT SPRINGS,

The curative properties of which are famous, and the baths are free to everybody.

A PROPOSITION FOR BUILDING A RAILROAD

Is now before the people. Railroad surveys are on foot. Artesian water is conducted through the streets in iron pipes, and into second stories of buildings.

A $12,000 BRICK SCHOOL HOUSE,

Graded schools, churches, brick blocks. This place has made, as we believe, the greatest growth of any place in Southern California, and has made the most improvements of any new colony in California in the last three years. Its altitude is 1400 feet above the sea. The population in 1885 was fifty persons, and in 1886 is about twelve hundred. No other valley in Southern California has so many advantages. Come and see for yourself and be convinced of this fact.

☞ We, the undersigned citizens, agree and guarantee to pay the expenses of any person or persons coming from any point in California to San Jacinto and return, if everything in the above statement is not true:

Thanksgiving.

Our old Puritan fathers were not given to holiday making. Life meant stern and earnest endeavor for them. It was encompassed with difficulties. Their thoughts were given to the effort of working out the as yet unsolved problem of political and religious liberty. They were strong men, cast in iron molds, having little thought and little leisure for pleasure or relaxation. Watching the struggling birth-throes of Liberty in a New World, and guarding its cradle from the assaults of tyranny and the aggressions of its foes, they had not much care for merry-making or holiday delights. It was their constant watchfulness, their wise forethought, their unceasing patriotism, and their far-seeing wisdom and vigorous action that enabled them to bequeath to us the heritage of liberty which we enjoy.

The few holidays in which they indulged all partook somewhat of the nature of religious sacraments. They were devout worshippers, those old forefathers of ours, and recognized in all things the hand of an overruling Providence. And it was this almost universal recognition of a Providence that controls the affairs of men that led to the institution of a day of thanksgiving. It was with them, as with us, a day given to religious observances and social amenities. On that day, of all others, scattered households met together under the old home roof, braving the danger of forest paths, where might be hidden savage foes, the fury of winter tempests, that they might meet together to thank God for all the blessings of the year, and after that enjoy all the cherished delights of the old home fireside. And renewedly consecrate was the day when, in the midst of civil strife and the battling of treason against the life of the Nation, it was again set apart as a day for thanksgiving and praise for victories won and the hope of returning peace, by a President no less devout, no less trusting in his child-like and unswerving faith in a divine and overruling Providence than were our early forefathers who first ordained the day.

Thanksgiving day, nationally observed, is an American institution, and certainly no people have more cause for thanksgiving than our own. We are a great and a prosperous people, occupying a wide stretch of continent extending from ocean to ocean. We are at peace with all the world. Our crops have not failed us, but plenty and abundance are on every side. Our industries are vast and varied. Our national and individual wealth is uncounted. Political and religious freedom are the very cornerstones of our national life; the life of the Nation is steadily onward toward a higher civilization and a larger development; and it is certainly becoming and appropriate, that we, as a nation, should at least once a year give public recognition and thanksgiving to that overruling Power who has watched over and guided and led us, till, from the little handful of early settlers who found their way to our shores, we have become a nation of millions, rejoicing in prosperity and universal freedom.

Our Streets.

The rainy season is coming on, and, unless some provision is made by the Council for averting the crying evil of muddy streets which has in the past done so much to injure Los Angeles in the eyes of strangers, visitors and investors, the city and the people will again be the losers "by a large majority." True, it is a formidable task, and cannot be done in a day. It is both a slow and an expensive work to thoroughly reconstruct and permanently improve the condition of the streets of a growing city like this, which was cut out for a village instead of for a metropolis, and has entirely outgrown its clothes. The task of improving even the more central of the business streets is a formidable one, and it is not expected that they can, in a single season, be made what they should be; but something can be done in that direction; a beginning can be made, and the needed work should be undertaken this fall. Public opinion and the best interests of the city demand it; and public opinion will sustain the municipal authorities in any wise, well-considered measure looking to the accomplishment of the desired end. A liberal outlay of the people's money, so the expenditure be honestly and judiciously made, will be approved by the people. Such approval was foreshadowed and as good as guaranteed when the improvement bonds were voted by so decisive a majority.

The better time to work the streets is in Summer—in the dry season—not in Winter, when it cannot be done to advantage. But in Summer the streets are generally good; and when they are good, there is no public clamor to urge the authorities to prepare for the floods of Winter. So they—the authorities, not the floods—subside and take it easy, after the manner of the Arkansaw Traveler, about whom the familiar story is told. We have been in the past too negligent in this regard. We have let the golden days slip by—days when any man could work—and then, when the rainy season has come on, and brought with it muddy streets and discomfort, we have got up and howled at the City Fathers—the delinquent Dads, so to speak—and made it sultry for them. This practice has not always been quite right on the part of the people. The City Council has not been wholly to blame. Before the improvement bonds were voted there were no sufficient funds available for any extensive work, on a comprehensive plan, in the way of street betterments; and after those bonds were voted a long period had to intervene before the funds could be made available.

Now, however, there is a chance to proceed with the greatly-needed work. The citizens are looking to the Council for relief, and that body should get up, rub its official eyes, and shake itself free of its old-time lethargy. It need not move without deliberation, but it needs to move. Sagacious Davy Crockett's sound motto is a good one for the municipal statesmen to act upon: "Be sure you're right, and then go ahead."

For Revenue Only.

The Ahkoond, having been sat down upon by the people to whom he appealed to elect him to Congress, and being now desirous of burglarizing the office by the help of a Democratic Congress, is showing tardy skill in seeking sympathy throughout the district. The first day of his editorial return to the Herald was "accentuated" by a fulsome article in praise of San Diego—a locality which natural narrowness between the eyebrows had caused him always theretofore to belittle. Yesterday he played another card, and trumpeted his belief that Southern California should have the next United States Senator. Mr. Lynch's frantic support of Hearst, however, is rather too recent to be forgotten, or to permit the conviction that his present position is sincere. As a matter of fact, it doesn't matter a soap-bubble in a gale of wind whom Mr. Lynch favors for Senator. His effect in the case will be absolutely nil, and his present editorial molasses to catch sympathetic flies will avail naught.

If there be a smirched and oily pretender who, by common repute, has kicked out one wife, would he not do well (for himself) to go mighty slow on the dynamitic and boomerangling subject of wives and the kicking thereof? The bearing of this observation lies in the application of it, as Capt. Bunsby would say. Rodents! rodents! "metropolitan" contemp.; also bosh! Boysh!

An inaccurate evening contemporary having without authority projected Dr. H. Sinsabaugh into an alleged still-hunt for the mayoralty, the doctor desires THE TIMES to say for him that he has consistently and constantly refused to run for or accept any office, and that he means what he says. This should be final in the matter.

Paso Robles has a boom that rivals that of the city of Baynclimate. Thirty thousand dollars' worth of town lots were disposed of at the sale at Paso Robles last week. Some of the lots brought $16 per front foot. The railroad's coming did it.

We observe in the Tribune some sly, oblique, and badly-defined editorial hints on the subject of "harmony in the Republican ranks," coupled with some slurs. When it is known, and it is susceptible of proof, that these plausible, yet malign, remarks come from a quarter in which more than one Republican county candidate in the late campaign was deliberately, systematically, maliciously and venally "knifed"—knifed by pretended Republicans, thick-and-thin party men, and knifed in the interest of their Democratic opponents—the brazen and unspeakable hypocrisy, the monstrous assurance and monumental "gall" of such remarks become apparent. THE TIMES knows whereof it speaks, and can produce evidence of the truth of what it charges. It has the names of the candidates who were "knifed" and the names of the men who participated in the traitorous work of knifing—names of the principals and of the agents.

A TRIFLE less than a year ago now, the people of Los Angeles rolled up a tidal verdict in favor of high license. If any one is so foolish as to fancy that they are now in a mood to surrender the fruits of that victory, some one is going to be fooled. The enemies of high license will do well to keep where the people won't get a chance to sit down upon them.

Good men, in sympathy with the progressive ideas, the high moral tone and the broad culture which mark Los Angeles—they are the ones who should be nominated and elected at the impending City Convention. Any experiment with scrubs will be more than risky—it will be suicidal.

BR'ER SLAUGHT'S spelling has been subjected to unfriendly criticism by some carpers who imagine that the mayor of a city like Los Angeles should know at least the three R's—readin', ritin' and 'rithmetic. He is a classical scholar, however, as compared with some other would-be municipal Josh Billingses.

THE city is embarrassed at best to find funds for the most essential improvements. Take away the five thousand dollars monthly revenue from the saloons under the high license ordinance, and where would we be?

MYRON ANGEL, late editor of the San Luis Obispo Tribune, has leaped onto the tripod of the Daily Republic of that place. The tripod is a nail-keg.

THE Republican primaries come day after to-morrow. Every Republican has a sacred duty there.

Congratulations in Advance.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—To the Los ANGELES TIMES: May your victory over turkey to-morrow be complete and thoroughly enjoyable. A. RICHARDOVICH.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

The President's organs are silent upon the faulure of the administration in its telephone suit. They refuse to be rung up.

An examination of the returns in Minnesota convinces the Minneapolis Tribune that the labor and German vote was cast against the Republican party, but that the sturdy farmer vote remained firm.

One of the incidental results of the Wisconsin election is the effectual thwarting of Mr. Vilas's Senatorial aspirations.

Republican success in three Congressional districts of Kentucky has encouraged the party to make a vigorous canvass next year for the Governship. W. C. Goodloe, Congressman Wadsworth and Cassius M. Clay are mentioned as candidates.

Solicitor-General Jenks is of the opinion that the government's suit against the Bell Telephone patents will be taken up to the United States Supreme Court on a writ of error. It would seem that the administration has made enough errors in the matter now to drop it.

"The saloon," said a prominent New England Republican, "is a source of weakness to the Republican party whenever and wherever it has been looked to as an alley. Its support is at the price of immunity from the laws. The Republican party will be stronger to be recognized as the foe of the saloon."

The Scratcher Abroad.

[Los Angeles Herald.]

The recent county campaign—and, for that matter, the State campaign, too—demonstrated to a certainty that the independent voter is, like the schoolmaster, abroad. There was a great deal of scratching. This indulgence was mostly a luxury enjoyed by our Republican friends. The voter in that political camp did not approve of the ticket prepared for him. He treated it much as he would a meal of crow. To an extent, alarming to his own party at least, he scratched on Democratic names. Let us follow out this hint when we come to select a city ticket. Delegate the chronic office-seeker—the man who has never been successful at any business of his own—to a seat very far back. Select good business men, men of affairs, men who have achieved success in their own undertakings.

A Conservative View.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

The dimensions of the land boom in Southern California may be appreciated from the fact that there are no less than forty-one real estate agents in Pasadena, a colony which would be liberally provided for if it had two agents. It may be that the fancy prices which make land-selling so attractive in Southern California can be maintained, but the business has assumed a speculative character which is unwholesome.

Able Resolve of an Editor.

[Paso Robles Leader.]

The population of San Luis county has increased wonderfully the past two years. The editor of the Leader will do all in his power to increase the population at a greater ratio in the years to come.

What an Honest Recount Would Yield.

[Santa Barbara Press.]

Jo Lynch places all his hopes on a Democratic majority in Congress. If an honest recount is made Vandever's majority will no doubt be increased.

Briggs's Bluff.

[Cincinnati Times-Star.]

Next to Wiggins' effort of a general earthquake, the largest current contract is that of Mr. Briggs, of California. He goes to Congress pledged to work for a pension for Jeff Davis.

Modesty is His Name.

[Santa Barbara Press.]

Mr. Lynch is very modest indeed. All he asks is to be allowed to revise the official count. He assures the most skeptical that it would give him a seat in Congress.

Rancho San Julian.

[Lompoc Record.]

A good chance is now open to some of our boys around town for the investment of their spare cash, it being reported that the San Julian ranch is for sale for $1,000,000.

JONES IN JEOPARDY.

THE JURY RETURN A VERDICT THAT HE IS SANE.

Criminal Trial Repeated—Opening Argument by the Prosecution—The Hearing Adjourned until To-morrow Morning.

The question as to Jones's insanity was given to the jury yesterday, at 9:10 a.m. Ten minutes later the jury returned with a verdict of sanity.

The trial of the criminal case was then proceeded with, before the original jury. The chief effort of the defense was to show insanity on the part of the defendant. The following witnesses were examined for the defense: Mr. Russell, M. Parker, F. B. Clark, G. W. La Dow, Wm. Riley, Warren Alexander and Dr. J. P. Widney.

A recess was then taken.

On reassembling:

W. HILL,

an inmate of the jail, gave as the chief reason why he thought defendant insane, the fact that he had asked witness to vote the prohibition ticket.

WM. EMPTAGE,

also an inmate of the jail, thought defendant insane.

In rebuttal the prosecution placed on the stand, who repeated, in substance, the evidence given previously. Had treated his father well. Paid counsel for his defense when he had been charged with the murder of his wife. Had always treated defendant as a member of his family.

J. W. GRIFFIN

had known defendant nearly three years. Had arrested him when charged with murder. Thought him sane.

The defense here introduced

MR. HOWLAND,

son of the gentleman who lives at La Dow. Witness had had several conversations with defendant, and thought him sane.

For the prosecution,

JAILER THOMPSON,

who gave the same evidence as previously. Had seen no evidence whatever of insanity at any time.

IRA KILGORE

repeated his former evidence as to the sanity of defendant. Under cross-examination he admitted having noticed some peculiarities about defendant. One of these was that defendant would laugh when he was mad, and when spoken to about it said: "It is better to laugh than swear."

again testified as to his belief in defendant's sanity. Had examined him this week, in the jail, in regard to his sanity, in company with Drs. Maynard and Baker. Spent about an hour there. Defendant showed no evidences of insanity. Asked defendant if he fully appreciated what was going on in court; whether he understood that an inquiry was in progress regarding his sanity. Defendant had replied: "Certainly, I do!" was then asked whether he considered himself insane, to which he replied: "Yes, at times I do things that I am sorry for." Dr. Maynard asked him whether he did these things because he was insane or because he was angry. To this he replied that he did them because he was angry.

a farmer, had known Jones about two years. Had heard him talk. Believed him to be sane. In one conversation had with him in the presence of his son defendant had said that he claimed the son as his boy, whether the son claimed him or not.

lives near La Dow. Had known Jones about two years. Believed him to be sane.

A. V. FOX,

the court reporter, had the testimony given by defendant during the murder trial. Had seen him daily since then. Considered him sane. Admitted under cross-examination that while taking down evidence in court he was a machine, the words going in at one ear and out at the other.

W. BEAN

lives near La Dow. Had known Jones about a year. Had lived with him about two weeks. Slept with him during that period. Thought him sane.

GEORGE A. NUTT,

one of the victims of the poisoning, repeated his evidence previously given. Despised defendant from the way he had spoken of killing his wife.

LIZZIE STACY,

another victim, repeated her previous evidence as to defendant's sanity.

MRS. JONES

also went over the same ground.

DR. MAYNARD

had examined defendant this week, with Drs. Baker and Bicknell. Considered him sane. Had examined no witnesses. Admitted the possibility that defendant was a monomaniac.

CAPTAIN DOUGHERTY,

who has charge of the transportation of insane people, again testified to the defendant's sanity, in his opinion.

MR. HAMILTON,

Deputy County Clerk, produced the verdict of the jury on defendant's sanity.

G. M. HOLTON,

the District Attorney, was placed on the stand, and testified as to a conversation said to have been had with defendant in his office.

MR. DIEHL,

one of the counsel for the defense, testified to having called on the District Attorney and asked him for some of the flour for analysis, which the District Attorney had refused.

This closed the case, and the District Attorney made his opening argument, and a recess was then taken until Friday at 10 a.m.

Stereopticon Exhibition.

Last evening afforded a rare treat to a highly delighted audience in the First Congregational Church. Dr. O. B. Bird gave a series of stereopticon views, of great variety and beauty. Of many similar entertainments seen here, none compare favorably with this in general particular merit. There were views illustrating subjects in the temperance field, scenery on land and on sea, Mt. Vesuvius in a state of eruption, and a flame-red sea; views of statuary, historic and imaginative, from famous artists; a scene in the old Coliseum, with enraged wild animals in fatal combat with condemned human victims, followed by an evening scene in the same place, with the spirits of martyred dead rising from the arena, where lay the victims in heaped up masses, among which skulked beasts of prey. Dr. Bird's views are of the finest dissolving kinds, and the instrument a fine piece of mechanism.

The doctor will give another equally interesting exhibition to-morrow evening.

The Bank Caved.

F. P. Wright, a laborer engaged in grading on Bellevue avenue, was jammed against a wagon yesterday morning by the caving of a bank under which he was working. He was seriously injured internally.

FIELD ATHLETICS.

The Los Angeles Athletic Club's Fine Display To-day.

The field-day of the Los Angeles Athletic Club—an organization of the leading young men of the city—will doubtless draw a large crowd to Agricultural Park this morning. A special train leaves the Commercial street depot at 9:30 this morning. The programme and list of entries is follows:

One hundred and twenty yards hurdle race—Entries: M. E. Clark, J. M. Winston, M. T. Spencer.

Running broad-jump—J. M. Winston, M. T. Spencer, Paul Flanner.

Tug-of-war, limit 650 pounds. This will be contested by two teams of four—one from the Turnverein and the other from the Athletic Club. The name of neither team, however, will be made public until the day of the contest.

Obstacle race, 440 yards—W. A. Barker, Thomas L. Barnes, F. J. Cooper, W. R. Nicholson, S. L. Burke.

ATHENA CARNIVAL.

A Pleasant Affair at the University Last Evening.

The Athena Carnival—an entertainment given by the young ladies of the University of Southern California last night—was a very pleasant affair and was well attended. Among the pleasant features were the Mikado booth, the Irish booth, candy booth, flower booth, lemonade well, fortune tree and coffee and chocolate booth. Following was the entertainment:

Instrumental Solo, "Waldesrauschlen" (Liszt)—Miss Wright.
Medley Recitation—Lillie Sigler, Abbie Chapin, Lida Thompson, Mamie Mendenhall, Lillie Thacher, Eva Spencer.
Vocal Solo—Mrs. J. S. Rice.
Tableau, "Portia" (Merchant of Venice)—Grace Miltimore.
"Three Little Maids from School" (Mikado).
Recitation, "Angels of Monte Vista"—Laura M. Bell.
Violin Solo, "Rigoletto" (Singelee)—Grace Miltimore.
Tableau, "Meeting of Queen Elizabeth and Mary Stuart"—Queen Elizabeth, Cora Snodgrass; Mary Stuart, Helen Widney.
Vocal Solo—Miss Breed.
Kinder Symphony (Zhuphil)—Athena Orchestra.
Whistling Chorus, "Mocking Bird"—J. S. Rice.

A Police Pension Bill.

The Chief of Police has received a letter from the committee of the Widows and Orphans' Aid Association of the Police Department of San Francisco, accompanied by circulars and drafts of a bill which will be presented by Hon. Thomas J. Clunie in the Senate, and asking that every police officer receive a copy, and that if the people feel interested, they explain the matter to the Senators, so that when the matter comes before the Legislature, they may be able to vote thereon with a clear understanding.

The bill is a police pension bill, prepared by the association above mentioned. It is based on the best features of the pension laws of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, and other cities. The bill is intended to include in its provisions the cities of San Francisco, Sacramento, Oakland, Los Angeles, Stockton, San José, and any other city which has now or may hereafter have a police force of ten or more members. The Chief of Police, the Judge of the Police Court and the City Treasurer are constituted a board of trustees of the police relief and pension fund created by the act.

A Sensational Case.

A sensational story was given publicity yesterday concerning the rescue of a young San Francisco girl from a brothel in this city. It is alleged that some weeks ago Robert Taylor, salesman in a San Francisco hardware house, eloped with Julia Myers, the young daughter of an employé of the Spreckels sugar refinery, and betrayed her. The father put detectives on the track, but all trace of the fugitives was lost in Oakland. A San Francisco drummer saw them here the other night, and at once telegraphed to the father. The father came down by the next train, and finally found his daughter in an Alameda street brothel. She was glad to see him, and begged to be taken home. It is also stated that the proprietress of the bagnio had treated the girl with the utmost consideration, and had kept Taylor and all other male visitors away from her. The story is a sensational one, and comes from a shaky source, but is given for what it is worth.

A Railroad Smash-up.

The train from the East yesterday was six hour late. It left Benson, Ariz., ten hours late, making up four hours on the way. The cause of the delay was an accident to a frieght train, at San Simon, east of Benson. The train was ditched through the spreading of the rails. The engineer and fireman escaped, but a break man, who was riding on the engine was badly scalded by the escaping steam, and his life is dispaired of. The train was loaded with oranges, raisins and other California fruits, two carloads of which were burst open by the accident. When the passengers from the East came along, they opened their eyes widely at seeing the ground covered with semi-tropical products, and supposed that they had struck the promised land ahead of schedule time. They quickly loaded up with spoils of the collision and had enough fruit to last them until they reached Los Angeles.

The Wily Chinaman.

Messrs. Lamburn and Turner lost five sacks of potatoes and reported the loss to the police. At an early hour yesterday morning a horse and wagon, the latter containing five sacks of potatoes, was taken up by the police on Sanchez street, the Chinamen who were with it escaping. The horse and wagon were impounded to await a claimant, who turned up yesterday in the person of Lang Sing. He was promptly arrested on suspicion, but claimed that a Chinaman had borrowed his wagon to haul some potatoes and, as there was no evidence against him, he was released.

Court Notes.

In the case of The People versus Katz, concerned in the famous Kate Valenzuela-Gassen cattle-stealing affair, before Judge Cheney, the District Attorney moved to dismiss the information. Taken under advisement.

Judge Brunson's court was engaged with an examination into the insanity of Jacob Kuster. On the report of the examining physicians respondent was ordered discharged.

A. Mohol was sent to jail for 30 days by Justice Ranney for petty larceny.

CITY POLITICS.

REPUBLICANS PREPARING FOR THE CAMPAIGN.

Caucuses Held Last Night—First and Fourth Wards Ragland, Jones Loomis and Browning for Council.

About fifty Republicans of the Fourth ward met at the Southern Hotel last night in caucus for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Councilman from that ward. Ragland was nominated on the first ballot, with 21 votes, beating Jones, the present incumbent, who had 19 votes. The following delegates were also elected and voted for at Saturday's primaries: Emerson, J. Lopez, F. G. Obando, James Velasco, Allen Bonsall, Temple, M. Weisz, W. Rowe, J. V. York, D. W. James Lockwood, Chas. Schneddig, J. McGraw, Dr. [illegible]. At a "citizens' meeting" in Downey avenue last night, E. [illegible] was elected chairman and [illegible] secretary. Wm. Vickers was nominated for Councilman from the Fourth Ward.

BOBBY'S THANKSGIVING

WRITTEN FOR THE TIMES
By MRS. LIZZIE A. VORE.

It was a cheerless little room, and very meagerly furnished. The clean, well-worn rag carpet and scant muslin curtains could not make it look bright and warm, though they added a neatness to it. It contained four common windsor chairs, a rocking-chair, a small pine table, a dresser, and in one corner a bed; these, with the small cooking-stove, completed the furniture of the room.

Sitting humped up over the latter, with her small feet on the hearth, was a little figure trying to get some warmth from the smoldering embers. Such a little figure, to be a wife and mother! A sweet face, with bonny blue eyes, and rippling masses of rich chestnut hair swept back from the low, white brow; but the sweet, childish mouth had a weary droop now, and the blue eyes were heavy with unshed tears. It was Bobby's mother. . . .

Bobby's coming had been a great event, but the young mother had never been so well since; and when, four months ago, after a serious illness, from the "valley of the shadow of death," she tottered back into life to find her husband in debt and out of work, having lost his place during her illness, when he had been obliged to stay with her. Hard times followed, work was scarce. Tom was only one among the many in the great city who walked the streets daily in search of work, a search which more often than otherwise was fruitless. It had gone on from bad to worse until the present. Tom had had no work for two weeks, and piece by piece their furniture had been sold to meet their pressing wants, until only the small belongings of this room were left of their pretty furniture.

Bobby stood at the window, with a shawl pinned around him, looking disconsolately out at the passers-by. He had been there a long time, with his little, cold, freckled nose flattened against the pane, though that could not, by any earthly means that I know of, have made it any warmer.

It was the day before Thanksgiving; Bobby was thinking about that now, with his round face all puckered up into a scowl. It was a very disconsolate little face, indeed, and that was an unusual condition for Bobby's face to be in, for I do not know of a merrier, stouter-hearted little chap than this same little six-year-old Bobby Barton. But things are very dark, just now, at Bobby's home.

"I suppose," said Bobby to himself, "there's no use looking for any Thanksgiving dinner to-morrow, nor nothing else; it will just be same's we've had for a week an' more. Hasty pudding an' 'lasses, an' 'lasses an' hasty pudding! The bacon was all gone yesterday and the potatoes. A fellow wouldn't care if it wasn't for a fellow's mother; and here Bobby glanced back at the little figure crouching over the stove. He could not see her face, but the spiritless attitude and disconsolate droop of the brown head spoke volumes. A wonderfully soft tenderness crept into Bobby's face, as his brown eyes wandered from the golden brown head to the little feet in the patched shoes on the hearth. At the sight of those patches and fast approaching holes that wouldn't be patchable, Bobby dashed away the impatient tears. Such pretty little feet they were—no amount of patches could hide that. Bobby was sure there was not another pair half so cunning and pretty in all the world, just as he was sure there was never before such blue eyes, nor such bright curly brown hair; but then, there was never such an altogether adorable little mamma before; he was thinking all this now just as he had thought it a hundred times before, and the thin faded dress and patched shoes made a strange heavy ache in his little heart, just as they did in somebody else's great big heart, and that was Bobby's papa's.

The wind has raised—a cold, biting wind that mumbles and mutters, howls round the house, creeps into every crack and shrieks down the chimney sending a little white puff of ashes out of the black looking stove right into the face bent over it; the little figure raises itself and with one hand brushes the ashes away, and then glances wistfully at the odd looking little figure at the window—a minature mother bunch, he looks, his chubby, stout little form enveloped in the old shawl.

"What was that?" wondered mamma. "Not a sob, surely!" No, her sturdy little boy could not be crying.

"Bobby!"

No answer.

"Bobby!" This time as near a command as mamma's voice ever gets.

Bobby turns quickly and gives a little inarticulate cry; the next instant a pair of stout little arms are around mamma's neck, and a brown head is hid on mamma's shoulder, while Bobby's stifled sobs break the stillness. And the little boy is drawn up in mamma's arms, while something very like a sob comes from mamma herself.

"Mother's lap is such a comfortable place to be in when a feller is in the dumps, even if a feller is a getting big," thought poor Bobby.

A step was heard outside. It could not be papa, for he never could step so lightly as that if he tried ever so hard. Mamma listened. Bobby stopped crying and listened, too.

Then there came a rap at the door, a soft, hesitating kind of a rap.

Bobby sprang down and ran to open the door while mamma came forward in time to greet politely the plump little old lady who entered at Bobby's invitation.

"Can thee tell me if this is where Thomas Burton lives?" she asked in the kindest and softest of old voices, and come to look closely—for it was growing dusk—it was just the dearest old face in the world whose kindly eyes met their's.

"Yes, madam," said Elsie, wonderingly, "my husband lives here; but—but—I cannot recollect you. I do not know—"

"Oh, that is all right," said the old lady, cheerily, taking the chair offered; "but did thee say thee was Thomas's wife? Why, thee don't look over 17; isn't thee very small? And surely, this great boy can't be thine and Thomas's? Ah, but he is, though, for he is Thomas all over again."

"Yes, madam, I am Tom's wife. I am not always quite so small and thin; but I have been ill a long while, and I don't seem to gain much. I am so sorry my fire is so low!" and the poor little face grew flushed.

"Yes, dearie, yes; I'll just keep my cloak on a bit. So thee's been sick, has thee, poor dear? Thee doesn't look strong. Is Thomas well? Thee may have heard him speak of great aunt Nancy Payne, who used to keep him with her a week or two at a time. He's the only relative I have left, excepting my niece Hannah, and I was telling Hannah, last first-day was a week, when she was up to quarterly meeting, that I believed the time had come for me to make Thomas a visit if no hindering thing came up, and so here I be, dearie."

Poor little Elsie tried to look glad, but stood aghast at the thought. A visitor, for an indefinite length of time, and not a stick of wood left to make a fire for her to warm by! It was a hard case surely.

"I—I—am glad," stammered Elsie, telling her first story. "I wish I could give you a fire, but—I haven't—there isn't—any wood!" Here the poor little woman burst into mortified tears.

"Dear! dear! No wood did thee say to keep theeself and little boy warm this cold day," asked Aunt Nancy, excitedly. "There, dear child, don't cry so, thee'll make theself sick. Dear! dear! No wood! Has Thomas got into bad habits? There, dear heart, just tell me all about it. I thought the spirit was moving me in this."

"No, indeed no!" sobbed the young wife, "my Tom never does wrong; but I was sick so long and Tom got in debt for medicine and things, and lost his place. One of the factories has shut down work and the city is overrun with men without work. Tom has not had a day's work for two weeks."

"Dear! dear!" thought Aunt Nancy, "the Lord sent me, I know he did."

"Don't thee worry any more dear; there, there, now don't; the Lord has sent me in your time of need. Dearie me, why didn't Thomas write to me long ago? I take it ill of him when I should have been glad to have helped him, and I could have come and nursed thee, too, just as well as not."

Elsie's loving heart went out to the stranger at once; it was the nearest to mother love she had known since her mother died ten years before, so she allowed Aunt Nancy to fold her big shawl around her while the kind old hands also dried her tears and soothed and encouraged her with tender words of sympathy, while Bobby nestled up to her and stroked her brown hair with shy tenderness.

"What's thy name, dear?" asked aunt Nancy, patting Bobby's cheek affectionately. "Bobby? Ah, Robert, I suppose after thy uncle Robert, who died years ago. Thee's a fine boy, and a good one I trust. I have something good for thee in my box when thy father comes to lift it in."

Fortunately for Bobby, who was very near explosion just then, a quick step sounded outside on the hard ground; and the next instant the door was thrown open and papa's voice, sounding cheerier than it had for many a day, called out:

"Elsie, darling! Bobby!"

In the gathering darkness he did not see aunt Nancy.

"Yes, papa," cried Bobby, joyfully; "we're here!" and the next instant Bobby was in papa's arms, and pressed closely to the great loving heart.

"We've got company, papa," said Bobby, shyly, "and I love her a ready."

"Company!"

In the darkness he came forward to meet Aunt Nancy.

"Thomas, it is too dark to see thy face, but I'd know thy voice anywhere, and I think thee'll know mine."

"Aunt Nancy Payne, as I live!"

Tom dropped Bobby quicker than he had ever been dropped before in his life, and caught the dear little Quaker lady up in his arms and gave her a hearty smack.

"There, Thomas!" said aunt Nancy, laughing heartily, "I have no lingering doubts left but what thee is strong and hearty enough. Am I welcome?"

"Welcome! I should think so! but I do hate to welcome you to such a poor home; it has not long been like this, and I can soon make it a little more comfortable. I have had the first work to-day that I have had for two weeks. I have just ordered some wood that will soon be here, and I will run now for some oil; we will soon have a light and good fire. Here, little one, is something for supper," setting a basket down and drawing the slender form to him, and kissing her tenderly, while he whispered remorsefully:

"Elsie, darling, you are not very hungry, are you? I have been half wild today because you ate no breakfast. I got half a week's pay in advance. Is that not good?"

"Oh, grand," whispered Elsie back; "don't you mind about me, you dear old Tom," and for an instant, under cover of the darkness, the brown head rested on Tom's shoulder, while she stroked the rough, bearded face with her little cold fingers. The next moment Tom was gone. Meanwhile the wood came, and soon after Tom was back, and in less time than it would take to tell about it, there was a light and a bright fire burning in the little stove.

Bobby laughed, sticking out his little chilled feet to the grateful warmth.

How the fire blazed and snapped, to be sure! Was there ever a fire before that roared and crackled in such a boisterous fashion? It just seemed to be inviting Bobby to warm those cold little toes. The kettle, too, soon began to sing merrily. It was not a black, solemn looking thing, like some kettles I have seen, but a bright, cheery, jolly sort of a tin one; and it seemed to be saying all the time:

"Warm your toes, little boy; little boy, warm your toes!"

It said it so plainly, and finally fell to blubbering and sputtering so about it that Bobby laughed outright.

"What is it, Bobby?" asked papa, sitting down and taking him on his knee; but Bobby only tucked his head down and laughed quietly to himself. It was his secret; his and the kettle's.

Now they could see Aunt Nancy's face, they fell in love with her more than ever. Such a dear, round, plump, little body, with the snowy kerchief folded across her bosom.

"How am I to fry this steak, Tom?" asked Elsie, laughing merrily. "You have forgotten to get lard. Did you get any butter?"

"Yes, there's butter there, and bread and sugar and tea," said Tom.

"Why can't thee broil it, dear? It will not take so much butter, nor so long a time to cook, besides being so much more wholesome." suggested Aunt Nancy.

"But I do not know how to broil it. I never have done it in my life," confessed Elsie, blushing.

"Then let me do it for thee; I would like nothing better. I have been on the road here for three days, with no exercise, and I will feel better to stir about a bit."

"If you are sure it will not tire you, and I will watch you and learn how. I do not know as much about cooking as I ought. Tom has taught me the most of what I do know."

"No! thee don't say so? Well, to be sure, the poor child! I would have come long ago and helped thee out if I had only known. Thomas, indeed! I should smile to see him teaching you to cook," laughed Aunt Nancy, utterly unconscious that she had been guilty of slang.

"But first I must take some things out of my box that Tom has lifted in." So saying she opened it and taking out an apron proceeded to tie it around her ample waist. Next she took out a large paper sack of apples, saying:

"Here Thomas, these are some of those fall pippins that grow down in the far end of the orchard, and some cute wines; here is a big red one for thee, Bobby, to stay thy stomach on."

"Hooray!"

Bobby couldn't help that, you know; he gave the apple one little exaultant toss in the air, and with another little Indian yell buried his white teeth in it.

"Bobby!" said mamma, in mild reproof.

But papa only held him a little closer and laughed with him.

"Thee never mind, Elsie," said Aunt Nancy smiling kindly at Bobby. "A boy is like a steam engine, he must let off the steam someway." Then Aunt Nancy took out a big jar of peach preserves, half a dozen glasses of jelly and half of a home-made cheese.

Elsie looked at Tom, and Tom looked at Elsie; while Bobby kept saying softly between every bite of apple: "Hooray! hooray!"

"This," said Aunt Nancy at last, "I brought especially for Bobby; they used to be thy weakness, Thomas." And she held up a sack of great, fat New England doughnuts.

Shall I tell you what Bobby did then? I am sure all the boys will sympathize with him. He slid down from papa's knee, like a rocket, and slipping behind papa's chair, stood on his head and kicked his little heels in the air in the exuberance of his delight.

"Just do thee see that boy, Thomas! He reminds me of thee when thee was a little shaver," and good Aunt Nancy laughed until her spectacles tumbled off her fat nose.

"Now, Elsie, hadn't thee better clear the things off the table and set it while I make the tea? The steak should be cooked the last thing, as it spoils it to stand long."

The eating done, Aunt Nancy called for a meat-hammer and a gridiron.

"But I have neither," said Elsie.

"Then, dear, bring me a stout dinner-plate and a frying-pan. Now, thee sees, I am going to use this plate for a hammer," and with the edge Aunt Nancy pounded the meat well. "Now I have my pan very hot and lay it on; it will adhere at first, but will soon become loose. If it is a tender piece and cut thin, three or four minutes is long enough for it to cook, but if like this piece it is thick and inclined to toughness, I take a knife, this bread knife, is just what I want, and hack it all the time it is cooking, turning it often; heat me a plate, please. Now, as the juice boils out I pour it off into the plate so as not to lose any of it. When the meat is nearly done let it brown a little, salt, pepper and lay on it a small lump of butter. Turn it into the plate and it is ready to serve.

"How good it smells!" said Elsie, sniffing daintily.

"Yes, it does so," replied Aunt Nancy, "and, if I do not miss my guess, it will taste as good as it smells."

Elsie placed it on the table. How pretty she looked with the flash of the fire-light on her face and the glad joy shining in her blue eyes.

"Don't mamma look sweet," whispered Bobby. "Do you know, papa, I think she cried because she was hungry."

"Bobby!" Papa's face twitched strangely; then he said huskily, in an undertone:

"She must never cry for that again, Bobby."

"No, sir; never any more," answered Bobby gravely.

Then mamma proclaimed supper as ready.

"Have you any room for supper, Bobby?" she asked laughing, for Bobby had eaten an apple and so many doughnuts that I wonder his mamma did not tremble for his digestion.

However, he declared himself quite ready for supper, and it was a very happy family that gathered around the table, and did full justice to the nice supper Aunt Nancy and mamma had prepared.

After supper, when the dishes were cleared away, and Bobby had climbed up into his papa's lap and gone to sleep with his hands resting on papa's shoulders; Aunt Nancy had a long talk with his papa and mamma.

"I want to help thee, Thomas," she said, "thee has had a hard time, thee and thy little wife here, while I have plenty and to spare and no blood kin beside thee and Hannah; I can let thee have a hundred dollars or so, as well as not, and I want thee to take it. It was not right to grow so careless in our correspondence; thee should have written for help long ago."

Tom's honest face flushed.

"No, Aunt Nancy, not if I cannot let you give me the money, as your kind heart prompts you, but I will accept it as a loan, and I assure you I am more grateful than I can say. And I will not rest until every cent is paid back with interest."

"Ah, thy pride, Thomas, thy pride! Well, have thy own way about it, only take the money and make thy home and family more comfortable."

The next day, Thanksgiving day, dawned bright and clear and unusually cold, but, bless you! Bobby did not care for that, for a big fire roared and crackled all the time this morning. It was at it when Bobby awakened, and kept it up all the morning, for wonderful preparations were going on in the little brown house. Papa went up town immediately after breakfast, and returned with vegetables, cranberries and a fine, fat turkey, whereupon Bobby immediately proceeded to invert himself again. Then mamma, with Aunt Nancy's efficient help, succeeded in getting up a wonderful dinner, in which the turkey, with his legs tied up and a huge cake of dressing under each wing, played the principal part. Then there were different vegetables, cranberries, preserves from Aunt Nancy's home, and an excellent cake that made Bobby's mouth water, and no wonder, for it was as light as a feather, and beautifully iced, and right here, if you will pardon the digression, I will give the receipe, for the benefit of other Bobbies.

Aunt Nancy's cake: One-half cup butter, one cup sugar (creamed together), one-half cup sweet milk, the yolks of four and the whites of three eggs (save one white for icing); beat eggs separately; two large cups flour, into which two teaspoonfuls of baking powder has been stirred; bake in layers, ice each layer, and have ready one cup of stoned raisins, which sprinkle thickly between each layer. Try it, mothers, for your little boys, and you who have no little boys might try it for some one else's.

Aunt Nancy would not stay long this time, but returned to her country home, up in Maine, taking Elsie and Bobby with her for the rest of the winter. When she first mentioned her intention to do so, she said decidedly to Tom:

"I want none of thy pride now, Thomas; thee need not say a word against it, for I am determined. Thee needs to get things fixed up more comfortable like; for thy family and thy Elsie here need a change; and there's nothing like country air and good old-fashioned country living to set her up again. Besides, she tells me that housekeeping has been a great trouble to her since she was married; and she can't have a better chance to learn than this winter; so I shall just take them along with me, and thee must be sure and come up Christmas.

I should like to tell you of Bobby's and mamma's visit to Aunt Nancy's delightful, old-fashioned home, and all about how Elsie learned to concoct excellent dishes, and prepare excellent meals out of very common material; but my story is already so decidedly "long drawn out" that the waste-basket rises in all its horror before me, and I have grave suspicion that our editor will hold on desperately to his aching head, and glare wildly in the direction of the above-mentioned article long before he gets through with "Bobby's Thanksgiving." May Thanksgiving day find all the MIRROR young people, whether Bobbies, or otherwise, with hearts full of happiness and gratitude.

TWO FRIENDS MEET.

"Hello! Old Fellow! What have you been doing to yourself? You look like a subject for the undertaker," exclaimed the man on the right.

"I have been taking mercury and potash mixtures until they have nearly ruined me," squeaked the old man on crutches.

"And I, said the other, "have been taking the genuine Swift's Specific, which has built me up from the first dose."

SWIFT'S SPECIFIC.

Nature's own remedy, made from roots gathered from the forests of Georgia. The method by which it is made was obtained by a half-breed from the Creek Indians, who inhabited a certain portion of Georgia, which was communicated to one of the early settlers, and thus the formula has been handed down to the present day. The demand has been increasing until a $100,000 laboratory is now necessarty to supply the trade. A foreign demand has been created, and enlarged facilities will be necessary to meet it. This great

Notice of Sale of Real Estate on Execution.

HENRY G. GLORE AND G. [illegible] Glore, minors, vs. George Glore, defendant.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Superior Court of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, under and by the seal of said Court, to me directed, in the above-entitled action, wherein Henry G. BUSINESS.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES, LOS ANGELES, Wednesday, Nov. 24.

Wool was quoted 25 cents higher to-day. It showed a slight drop. The rest of the list at the Produce Exchange was steady.

Letters from San Francisco report the wool market as follows: Trade is dull and weak, so Wool is changing hands. There is, however, a fair outlook in the East, and all advices point to an active trade within the next 60 days, as there seems to be no wool in the hands of dealers in that market, though the stock is perhaps full enough to supply the immediate wants of consumers. Prices here are not quotable at any figures as yet. At this time of the year there is considerable "off" Wool coming on hand, but it is not generally believed that prices for this "off" class of wool will range as high as prices ruling two months ago, when better Wools could be had.

The Silverton and Hertfordshire arrived at Wilmington on Sunday with cargoes of coal, the former from Cardiff and the latter from Sydney.

Stocks and Bonds.

Reported by the Times.

NEW YORK, NOV. 24.—Government bonds dull; holiday restricted business and lower prices of stocks. There was no Paul owing to the unfavorable showing of earnings for the past month. The other Grangers were dull. The market was comparatively steady; first prices were lost from last evening's finals from ½ to ¾ per cent. only. The market was weak in the early morning and additional declines were established in the last half hour. A partial rally was accompanied by a marked decrease in the amount of business. There was little movement in prices until soon until the last half hour, although the market sagged throughout the day. A smart rally in the last 30 minutes of the market first at something better than the lowest prices.

Money on call: Quiet at 2½@7 per cent., closing at 4 per cent. asked.

Prime mercantile paper: 4@5½.

Sterling exchange: Dull; steady; actual rates of 84½ for 60-day bills, 84 84 for demand.

BRIEFS.

Thanks!

Legal holiday.

Express your gratitude.

The Orizaba sails north to-day, and the Eureka to-morrow.

The insidious turkey-raffle has been getting in its work heavily.

The sale of the Howes tract by the Southern California Land Company, closed yesterday.

The case of poisoner Jones will be resumed before Judge Cheney to-morrow morning.

The steamer Ancon will make the next trip from San Francisco in place of the Geo. W. Elder.

Hugh McMahon was arrested yesterday, for petty larceny, on Commercial street, and locked up.

"Lucky" Baldwin's stable of racers has arrived and been put into winter quarters at his Santa Anita ranch.

Dr. Bird's fine stereopticon exhibition will be the attraction at the Congregational Church, to-morrow evening.

The train from the East was five hours late, yesterday, having been delayed by the wreck near San Simon, Arizona.

Ed. White was yesterday arrested on Main street and imprisoned on two charges, of drunk and disorderly and begging.

The contractor will have to do some heavy rustling to get the new jail completed on contract time, December 1st.

Orange Grove Lodge, No. 97, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, will give its fourth annual ball, this evening, at Mott Hall.

Filed in the Recorder's office yesterday: 37 deeds, 16 mortgages, 13 satisfactions, 5 marriage licenses and 28 miscellaneous papers.

Robert Collins, the fiendish teamster, will come up before Justice Austin to-morrow for the third time to answer for his brutalities.

The general delivery and carriers' windows of the postoffice will be open to-day from 3 to 4 p.m. only. There will be no delivery by carriers.

R. R. Boynton of Newhall, one of Constable J. C. Leighton's sureties, doesn't want his name made Baynton, as the types made it the other day.

The markets made a fine display of poultry and game yesterday, and were crowded until a late hour with people making their Thanksgiving purchases.

The city's accommodations are already almost running over, though the hotel and boarding-house room is nearly or quite double what it was a year ago.

The interest taken by the public in the Jones poisoning case is increasing and the report in THE TIMES is perused with avidity. That is the only place where a report can be found.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Stephen Connolley and Era Gamson, C. H. Connell and C. S. Shell, J. L. Wright and F. D. Moore and Charles F. Johnson and Clara Dangerfield.

Building appears to be especially active just now in the section north of Bellevue avenue. Several dozen houses are going up in the neighborhood of Philadelphia, Montreal and Virgin streets.

It is reported that the Time-Kiln Club went down the other day to San Diego. While there, Sam Caminsky was taken for an Anarchist, and the whole crowd was given two hours to get out of town.

Arizonans, visiting in town, express disgust at the prospect of losing the military headquarters which has been one of the chief supports of the Territory, since the mining business has been under a cloud.

The one-horse car line commenced running yesterday down Ninth street west of Pearl. That portion of the city in the neighborhood of Pico and Pearl has now two railroads and will shortly have four, when the electric road and the Washington street road are built.

A local contemporary is constantly getting in digs at the Los Angeles railroad ticket dealers or "scalpers." These gentlemen are honorable in their dealings, and there is nothing criminal in their calling. If their tickets are ever refused by the railroad company, they return the money. They cannot be held responsible for the actions of hotel-runners, who may induce passengers to buy worthless tickets.

Jeff Davis as a Liar.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

When Jeff Davis declares that he received reports during the war that Southern prisoners in Northern prisons were treated inhumanly, and were "often times doomed to death in cold blood," he knows that he tells a falsehood. There were rumors circulated through the South in the early years of the war that the Northern people would murder all the negroes, but these were intended only to work on the imagination of the colored people. No one except a negro or a poor white believed them. The leaders of the Confederacy had good means of getting information from the North, thanks to the Copperhead sympathizers, and it is safe to say that they never received such intelligence as Davis speaks of. If they heard idle rumors concerning ill treatment of their prisoners, they knew better than to believe them. They knew that the North would make no reprisals for the infamy of Andersonville and Libby.

A Card.

Mr. J. A. Brown, proprietor of the well-known Brown's Bakery and Restaurant, takes pleasure in announcing to his numerous patrons that his bakers having returned he is enabled to continue filling all orders for bread, cakes, etc. The embarrassing situation of yesterday can be satisfactorily explained. It appears that employés of all the bakeries in the city, not being well treated as to board, lodging, payment and hours of labor, found it necessary to organize, form resolutions and strike, in order to enforce better treatment. Mr. Brown, on inquiring if his employés had any such complaints to make, and receiving a negative answer, refused to sign their resolutions. His men were then ordered by the union not to continue work, thinking to thereby inconvenience him so as to compel him to comply with their wishes. But their plans utterly failed, as Mr. Brown felt himself equal to the emergency, making bread enough to supply the demands of his restaurant and a very small portion of his customers. His bakers, after holding out two days, found that the union could not replace their situations, consequently those not belonging to it returned, and the remainder have tendered their resignations to the order and recommenced their work this morning. To the proprietors of the other bakeries, who warned him not to attempt to buy bread of them, he returns thanks, and wishes to inform them that he would not drive away his patrons by placing their sour bread on his tables.

The Result.

The Howes tract is all sold. The public gave no heed to the weak barkings at the heels of success. The $190 lots of the Howes were found to be preferable to lots in out-of-the-way places, held at thrice the sum. In a few days the Southern California Land Company (Baker block) hope to give the people another first-class enterprise at a very low price, and yet worth treble the $650 and $800 lots which drag their slow way through the newspapers for weary months and months.
